7.1.4 Water conservation facilities available in the institution:

As the Institute is situated on hill, direct use for GW recharge within the campus is not feasible as all the water moves down the slope. However, at the bottom of the hill, the water gets impounded in a small pond and helps for GW recharge in the nearby area.

The Institute has sewage Treatment Plant (STP) of installed capacity of 275 KLD, which caters mainly for domestic sewage. The Wastewater getting generated from laboratories (which is less foul and contaminated)Is taken to a shortage tank and after setting ,reused in laboratories like fluid mechanics and also used for gardening and floor washing.(Such 02 STPs are available in the entire campus) which caters for wastewater getting generated from other institutes in the campus. The treated sewage from STP is used for gardening purpose; The Institute has an annual maintenance contract with an outside agency (as mentioned 7.1.3) who looks after the daily O&M of the STP.

Water Distribution system in the Campus:

The institute has its own packaged water treatment plant which is well maintained. The treated water is supplied to the entire campus, including all college buildings, hostels, schools and other institutes located in the campus. Daily about 10 Lakh liters of water is treated and distributed in the campus.

Waste Water Recycling:

As a pilot project WATER URINALS have been installed at two places in the campus and it is resulting in saving around 400 to 5000 liters of water every day. Our Sister Institute Sinhgad Engineering College has implemented waterless urinals has taken initiatives for water conversation. Converting existing continuous type/flush type urinals into water less urinals is the first step in this regard. It has many fold advantages towards environmental conversation such as reduction in carbon foot print (as less water is used, it results in less pumping hours, reducing CO2 emissions.

Rain water harvesting:

Institute has rooftop water collection and rain water harvesting system installed at the boys and girls hostels. The process involves collection of rain water and discharging it to a bore well in the campus, in order to reserve it beneath the earth surface. Rainwater is collected from roof tops and transferred into deep bore wells through water pipes. The water beneath the surface acts as a good and efficient reservoir of water and is further used for the maintenance of the green area in campus and also for the toilets. SLC thus supports green and sustainable initiatives in creating a more environmentally conscious campus

Rain Water harvesting by students and Staff members:

Sinhgad Law College's Gren Club conducts Water Harvesting Drive every year by informing students to go for water harvesting at their residence, farms or in any public places.

DEFICIENCY OF WATER - VADGAON-AMBEGAON CAMPUS

Respected Sir,

1. It is hereby informed that, the Water Irrigation Department has planned to cease the water flow in Mutha Right Canal, entirely, with effect from 23.11.2018. Hence, it is not possible to lift the water from the canal.
2. It is also informed that, we had experienced agitation of 400 students for not getting water in the hostels during September 2018.
3. We also take a water connection of 4 inch from the PMC water line, but it is not sufficient to provide water to whole campuses.
4. It is therefore requested to kindly grant permission to take another water connection of 6 inch from the PMC waterline and oblige.
5. Forwarded for your approval and further direction please.
